Rare partnership

The forces of good joined up with the forces of evil on Main Street in Pleasanton Thursday, when Superman and the devil were seen walking hand in hand. Actually Matthew Hilde (Superman) and Scott Jeorgis were just having a little Halloween fun as part of a Pleasanton Play Center parade in the center of town.

Two withdraw bids for schools' post

PLEASANTON — An audience of 25 at last night's Pleasanton school board candidates' night was surprised when two of the remaining six candidates announced their withdrawal from the race.

The withdrawal of Arthur Tenbrink and James R. Tomeik left the position open to Robert M. Coffey, Raymond Goluba, Karen L. Fritts and Giner Moorefield.

When the Pleasanton board originally called for applications, nine persons responded to the call to fill the position formerly held by Joe Schwab. The term expires in March, 1979.

After presentations by each of the candidates, the school board held a special session to determine who the finalists would be. As originally planned, the board will hold a public interview of the finalists on November 1. Announcement of the appointment will follow the public interviews.

Amador, Pleasanton teachers sign pacts

It's too soon to cheer the end of drought

Rosy predictions aside, one local water management official says no one will know until December whether this season's rainfall will dampen our parched lands.

Yesterday's rain was only enough to postpone watering lawns for a day, said Zone 7 General Manager Mun Mar. He says it will take six to eight inches of rain just to saturate the ground so runoff can occur.

Mar said he had heard nothing to discount the state Department of Water Resources' prediction that rainfall this season would be only 75 per cent of normal. Water officials in Marin and the East Bay Municipal Utilities District have predicted an w Meanwhile, the National Weather Service predicts rain this afternoon and continued showers Saturday. But they've been wrong before, haven't they?

Yesterday's rains left a few puddles, but not enough moisture to quench drought parched lawns in San Ramon

Pleasanton: two retreat school bid

The Amador and Pleasanton school districts became the first in the Valley to have their respective teacher units approve contracts, both bargaining units voting overwhelmingly in favor of the tentative agreements yesterday afternoon.

School boards in each of the districts must still meet to act on ratification, however. The Pleasanton board will probably accomplish that last hurdle at their regular meeting next Wednesday. The Amador trustees may call a special meeting or wait until their next regularly-scheduled gathering Nov. 8.

Teacher units in the Murray unit until their next regularly-scheduled gathering Nov. 8.

Teacher units in the San Ramon districts are still to vote on tentative contract agreements.

Amador district teachers gave the pact a 97 per cent "thumbs up" vote while Pleasanton elementary teachers ratified their agreement 129-7, or 95 per cent "accept."

Amador Valley Teachers Association president Tom Zach said the pact is for two years with re-openers next year on salary, health benefits, calendar, and class size. This is the first contract signed by Pleasanton teachers since the advent of collective bargaining.

AVTA's representative council had recommended an "accept" vote on Tuesday. Yesterday's balloting was conducted at the Pleasanton School library.

The Amador vote was actually on re-openers, including salary, health and welfare benefits. Amador teachers signed the original contract now in force last year. It extends through June 30, 1978.

Barbara Ziegenhals, president of the Amador Valley Secondary Educators Association, expressed happiness at the vote but noted, "We're getting ready for some leg work on the new contract. We'll have to put a new proposed contract on the table shortly after the first of the year."

Change the clock

Spring ahead, fall back. Just a reminder that Oct. 30, this Sunday morning (or late Saturday night) at 2 a.m. 8 marks the end of Pacific Daylight Saving Time.

Clocks and watches should be set back one hour at 2 a.m. or before you go to bed if you do not feel like waiting for the big moment. At any rate, everyone picks up an extra hour of sleep Saturday night.

Pavilion musical dropped

Last night's performance of 'Jesus Christ Superstar' at the Concord Pavilion was abruptly cancelled under a threat from Actors Equity, the Los Angeles' Artists Union.

Haunt a house

From ghosts to goblins, from carnivals to a haunted house, there'll be plenty for kids and their parents to do this weekend to celebrate Halloween in the Valley.

For details, see page 20.

Learn about water

The Congress of Valley Agencies (COVA) invites public officials and the general public to attend and participate in a day-long community congress on water management Oct. 29, Dublin High School auditorium from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Registration will be between 9:30 and 10 a.m. Sack lunches may be ordered during registration.

Complaints at Vallecitos

The impact on GE employees

SUNOL — General Electric employees are complaining about the federal government and ecologists and wondering if their nuclear facility here will be permanently shut down by the federal government.

Employees stood around in knots Tuesday and didn't work much after hearing the news that the Nuclear Regulatory Commission may close the place. NRC is trying to determine how much effect a newly-discovered earthquake fault would have on the 50 million watt reactor 200 feet away.

Highly placed spokespersons in the medical and atomic industry are expected to appear in Washington today and next week to plea for keeping GE open with perhaps only a couple days shutdown of the reactor.

GE makes 50 to 90 per cent of radioactive isotopes used in the medical industry, and they have a life of only four days to a couple of weeks, so hospitals could not store them.

GE has competitors who could gear up, but it would take time. If the reactor is shut down three or four weeks, GE probably would lose most of its business to competitors, it is feared. Opinions vary as to whether GE would win back the business.

Failure to do so could mean shutting the facility. Employees don't appear to be worried about missing a mortgage payment. GE has a good reputation for relocating employees within its own national structure.

Livermore's new look downtown

LIVERMORE — A public hearing will be held Tuesday to discuss the proposed updating and consolidation of the central area to the General Plan.

The major changes in the central area development plan would involve possible rezoning of 13 areas to bring the "core" together as a primary retail area from Livermore Avenue to the Southern Pacific Shopping Center at "S" Street.

SR rumbling over taxes

SAN RAMON — San Ramon Valley taxpayers aren't squirming quite as much under the load of this year's property tax bills as last year's but they are still unhappy.

According to Contra Costa County's Assistant Tax Assessor R.O. Seaton, the property tax rate in the San Ramon/Danville/Alamo area for 1977 averaged $10.60 per $100 of assessed valuation on the low end of the scale: $12.08 on the high side. For 1976, the low average was $10.88, high $12.67.

But due to the complicated variables involved in tax structuring, Seaton said the assessed valuation rate

Plowshare

End of a Lab era

Times' Washington Bureau Washington — The end of an era is coming at Lawrence Livermore Laboratory. The final, complete, official end.

Once a thriving, growing program — second only to weapons in size — Plowshare had fallen on political hard times with the rise of the environmental movement.

From $19 million nationally — about 90 percent of which was spent at LLL — the program was cut back to $5 million a year, then less. After 1973 there wasn't even enough money to conduct any test explosions. The heart has been cut out of the program.

Still, though, the Lab did not give up hope. Expressing a view common within the management, LLL Director Roger Batzel said in 1973, "In view of the energy crisis, I would be surprised if (Plowshare) were to disappear as an option to this country. In fact, there is some reasonable expectation that in fiscal year '75 (it) will be back up to the $5 million level."

But the funding continued to drop, until in 1976 it was officially zero.

However, LLL did not give up even then. It continued planning and in 1977 the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration was able to sell Congress on a revived program, one that would cost only $1.3 million and would not require research beyond the walls of a laboratory.

Then, this fall, as Congress considered the ERDA budget for 1978, Plowshare was — quietly, Carter promises tax cut, but not yet

WASHINGTON — President Carter announced Thursday that he'll nomy will be a part of his recommendations.

"By the end of the year," he told a nationally broadcast news conference, "we will have more information ... on the state of the economy, to know how much of our tax reform proposals should be devoted to stimulating the economy."

Asked about tax cuts, he said, "I would say that the rate of tax reduction and stimulation from the tax reform measures could only be assessed at the end of this year."

The President opened the 32-minute session by appealing anew for congressional action on his energy package, saying all public officials will be judged by "the courage which we are able to muster" in facing up to the energy problem.

As the President spoke, Senate-House conferees worked to compromise differences between a House-passed energy bill that is much to Carter's liking, and a far different measure awaiting Senate action.

Carter said he stands by a House-approved price ceiling of $1.75 per thousand cubic feet of natural gas. However, he did not flatly promise to veto a compromise measure boosting that figure.

He also declared continued opposition to Senate provisions offering what he called "windfalls" for oil companies but, again, said nothing firm about possibly vetoing the bill.

In other pronouncements, the President: — Said he has decided to support strong sanctions against the sale of weapons to South Africa. He predicted the United Nations will adopt a resolution imposing such an embargo, inspired by a South African crackdown against blacks and their supporters, and that it would be observed around the world.

— As for arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union, there is "a fairly good prospect" that disclosure of the general outlines of a new Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty can be made "within the next few weeks." But he added it would take several additional months to work out all the fine print.

— Although there has been criticism in Congress and elsewhere of his performance in office, and a drop in his pollmeasured popularity, much of this can be attributed to the "controversial nature of some things we put forward." But he said he will not avoid trying to deal with difficult national problems "simply to avoid controversy."

— Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell has not informed the White House yet whether Bell thinks the government should try to indict former CIA Director Richard Helms, who has been under investigation for alleged perjury. Bell has said he has decided whether the government should seek an indictment but would first talk to Carter about it.

— Asked about Republican criticism that the administration is inept, "I remember in this room last May someone asked me if my administration was all image and no substance, or all style and no substance. Lately the criticism has been too much substance and not enough style."

Obviously mindful of published suggestions that he has burdened Congress with too many major initiatives this year, Carter said he recently tried to think of additional initiatives he might submit.

"I can't think of any," he said. "I think we have addressed all the major problems already."

Shortly after the conference, White House Press Secretary Jody Powell went out of his way to clarify Carter's statement.

Powell said the President obviously did not mean to exclude submission of promised legislation in the areas of health insurance and urban policy. Powell suggested Carter was referring only to potential initiatives that might emerge without forewarning.

In announcing a delay of tax revision recommendations, first promised for September, Carter said he was influenced by a desire to see Congress first complete action on energy and Social Security legislation, both having tax consequences.

While reporting most administration work on the tax bill has been completed, Carter said of the delay: "I will have more time working with my staff and with the Congress and with labor and business leaders to evolve the difficult answers to complicated tax proposals."

Largest fusion test reactor

New Lawrence Lab project

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the world's largest magnetic fusion test reactor, a project involving the Lawrence Livermore and Berkeley Laboratories, will be held today at Princeton University.

The largest nuclear fusion project in the United States to date, the Tokamak Fusion Test Reactor (TFTR) is being constructed at Princeton's Plasma Physics Laboratory by the U.S. Department of Energy at a cost of $228 million.

Scheduled to be completed by 1981, the TFTR project represents an essential link between present magnetic fusion research and the first experimental fusion power reactor.

The "Tokamak," a doughnut-shaped device, is the main approach to the realization of a magnetic fusion reactor in the U.S. The principal alternative approach, the magnetic mirror, is being studied at LLL as is the use of high-powered lasers to initiate nuclear fusion.

Lawrence Livermore and Berkeley Laboratories' role in the Princeton project is in designing and constructing a prototype of the power source that will provide fuel and energy to sustain the high-temperature fusion process.

In the TFTR, heavy isotopes of hydrogen known as deuterium and tritium will be heated to temperatures as high as 100 million degrees to start the energy-releasing process of "melting" two elements together. This process, called nuclear fusion, has long been considered a safe, economical and environmentally acceptable method of generating electricity for long-term needs, scientists say.

But because of fusion's high temperature requirements — in effect, duplicating many of the same conditions that occur within the sun — devices capable of containing the hot plasma of electrically-charged fuel and sustaining the fusion process have been difficult to construct.

In the TFTR, electrically-charged plasma will be kept from melting the reactor walls by confining it to the reactor's core using powerful electromagnets designed by Princeton.

The machine designed by LLL and LBL to sustain the fusion reaction is called a neutral beam source. This device accelerates electrically-charged deuterium atoms, then converts them into neutral atoms that can, because of their lack of electric charge, pass through the reactor's confining magnetic field. As these fast-moving deuterium atoms penetrate the reactor's magnetic field, they transfer their energy of motion to the plasma and are transformed themselves into plasma fuel.

These neutral beam injectors will be attached in combinations of three to a "beam line" which will, in turn, be connected to the side of the reactor to power the fusion reaction.

The injectors to be built at LBL "will be larger than any other in all possible ways," says Robert Pyle, head of the neutral beam design group. "They will be larger in physical size, provide more power and accelerate atoms with higher energies than any other neutral beam injector yet constructed."

LLL has designed the beam line for these injectors, and will test the operation of the first prototype neutral beam source at its High Voltage Test Stand. Once LBL and

Dr. E.B. Hooper, a physicist at the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory, is shown cleaning the precision grid face of a neutral beam injector used in magnetic fusion experiments.

LLL have completed this prototype, private industry will build three others, which will be attached with this prototype to the sides of the reactor.

The program of designing, fabricating and testing a neutral beam system prototype meeting Princeton's specifications is a joint LBL and LLL project designed to last three years. The project cost for both LBL and LLL is estimated at $12 million.

Kenneth Fowler, LLL's associate director for Magnetic Fusion Energy, is a director of the project.

Valley obituary

Mark Steindorf

Mark W. Steindorf, a 1977 graduate of Dublin High School, died in an automobile accident in San Ramon Wednesday. He was 17.

Steindorf was a student at the College of Alameda.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Steindorf; his sisters Sandra, Carla and Terese; his brothers Todd and Eric and his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Eric C. Steindorf of Charlo, Mont. and Mrs. Lila Hagen of Glenwood, Minn.

Services Saturday will be held at 2 p.m. at the Lutheran Church of the Resurrection, 7557 Amador Valley Blvd., Dublin, with pastor David G. Aubrey officiating. Interment will follow at Lone Tree Cemetery, Hayward.

Arrangements are being handled by Graham-Hitch Mortuary, Pleasanton. Memorial contributions to the Lutheran Church of the Resurrection fund or personal charities preferred.

Crashes kill one, injure one

Two separate single-car accidents in the Valley Wednesday took the life of one man and injured another, the California Highway Patrol reported.

A highway patrol spokesman said Mark Werner Steindorf, 17, of 6827 Doeren Court in Dublin was killed when his car went out of control on Norris Canyon Road in San Ramon and struck a tree a half-mile west of Bollinger Canyon Road about 3 p.m.

The youth's small car was traveling at an excessive rate of speed when the accident occurred, the spokesman said. The Dublin resident was pronounced dead a short time later at Kaiser Hospital in Walnut Creek. In an unrelated incident, Dennis Lai, 26, of Oakland was injured when his car struck a telephone pole on Greenville Road north of Patterson Pass Road in Livermore about 8 a.m. Wednesday.

A highway patrol spokesman said a witness reported seeing Lai's car paednesday.

A highway patrol spokesman said a witness: at a high rate of speed, lose control on a curve and hit the pole.

Lai is listed in stable condition at Valley Memorial Hospital in Livermore with possible head injuries.

Demise of a program

without public debate — dropped.

The final straw had been the advent of a President of the United States with strong views about nuclear proliferation.

The revived program had two major thrusts. One was to study the possibility of using nuclear excavations for the storage of nuclear wastes, including those from power plants. If a way could be found to do that, one of the big arguments against nuclear plants might be disposed of.

ERDA told Congress, "The use of (nuclear) — created cavities extends the range of depths well below that feasible using conventional mining techniques, thus increasing separation from the biosphere."

That effort cost $520,000 in 1977 and was slated for $400,000 in 1978.

The other part of the revived program was called "technology support." It spent about $780,000 in 1977 and was requesting $600,000 in 1978 to study the effects of explosions on the surrounding geology. Congressional and Ford Administration support of the revived program has been based in part upon interest in sharing whatever information might be derived with other nations.

The 1968 Non-Proliferation Treaty requires the U.S. to do just that. (It prohibits exchanging information about how to actually make nuclear explosives, but requires sharing any other information about the effects or uses of peaceful devices.)

Because the Soviet Union — which has an active Plowshare-type program — has signed that treaty, it is assumed they are sharing such information. The Ford Administration position was that the Soviets should not be the only country deriving the propaganda benefits of providing such assistance.

The Carter Administration is willing to cede that role to the Soviets if the U.S. can play the role of the country more concerned about the ill effects of the spread of nuclear technology.

The week before Congress took up the ERDA budget, the House had passed a Carter-initiated anti-proliferation bill. It tightened procedures on exports and spelled out U.S. initiatives to strengthen international safeguards.

The Plowshare work just didn't fit in with that kind of policy. It was seen as implicit encouragement to other countries to consider the advantages of nuclear explosives.

Besides, with so small a program, the U.S. could not hope to provide other countries as much information as the Soviets.

Maps of the specific area, bounded by Chestnut Street on the north, Fifth Street on the south, Murrieta Boulevard on the west and Junction Avenue on the east, will be shown during the meeting at Municipal Court Chambers, 7:30 p.m.

From the core, where retail and financial institutions would be located, the plan calls for the area from Railroad Avenue and First Street to be general type commercial use, such as auto repair services, warehouses and similar businesses, according to Planning Director Howard Nies.

The southern edge of the central area would remain designated as single-family dwellings, "since there are some nice older homes there we'd like to keep," he explained.

The outer fringes would have apartments. Another area around Murrieta Boulevard and Stanley Boulevard would be zoned for offices with apartments as a conditional use.

A major change in the General Plan would be for the northern half of "vp" and "L" Streets, which generally stands vacant now, to be developed. The plan calls for clustering retail businesses and an open area adjacent to Railroad Avenue as a pedestrian corridor.

The area now is zoned general commercial, which would allow other types of uses than retail. Once planned more for warehouses and wholesale, the site now would be zoned for retail use, according to Nies.

A possible conflict is shaping up between commissioners and the staff over supermarkets in the central downtown area. The staff favors having either supermarkets as a permitted use or with conditional use permits. Conditional use permits would allow the city to control the location of supermarkets, preventing them in the proposed pedestrian area.

Commissioners seem to be leaning towards not permitting them in the central area at all, preferring the land be used for other retail stores. An argument against supermarkets is they take up too much parking space.

Among the recommendations for proposed landscaping in the central plan is deleting "grid pattern" trees — spacing a single tree periodically in parking area islands — and favoring grouping of trees as a more desirable landscaping. The General Plan for the business area also recommends amending the zoning ordinance to require "two-for-one" parking for large building sites in excess of one acre.

What shutdown means

Biggest griping by employees since Tuesday appears to be directed at the federal government for inconveniencing everyone.

Many employees also don't like the environmentalists who challenged the upcoming renewal of GE's five year and 20 year licenses. Hearings will be scheduled on the renewals in a month or two.

The reactor shutdown is a result of new geological data that was gathered by GE in preparation for the coming hearings.

Approximately 90 percent of the nuclear materials used in connection with the 50 million watt reactor at GE go to medical uses. The other 10 per cent is devoted to experiments connected to GE's role as a worldwide supplier of nuclear power plants.

Americana '77 Band Review Saturday

Foothill School band will host prep band review in Pleasanton.

Dublin High band steps out during band review

Field competition slated at Amador High

The band review being sponsored by the Foothill High Band Boosters Saturday is much like those held in communities around the country.

The review is actually divided into two parts, the parade scheduled for Saturday morning along Main Street in Pleasanton and the halftime or field competition at Amador Valley High, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Coordinating the entire review is Bob Morgan, along with a dedicated corps of parents including Don Williams, parade; Mr. Cronwell, facilities; Bob Silva, the field competition at Amador; Sue Cook, publicity; Sharon Paukert and Carol Tipler, hospitality.

An integral part of any band review is the number of trophies donated by community organizations. This is particularly true in the Valley where a large number of civic groups and businesses have come forward "to help out." They include the Pleasanton Rotary Club and Pleasanton JayCees, who are sponsoring the sweepstakes awards, the Soroptimist Club, JayCee Wives, Pleasanton Lions Club, Pleasanton Bakery, Jack-in-the-Box of Pleasanton, and First National Bank of Pleasanton.

A total of 74 trophies will be awarded.

Saturday night's field competition will feature a select few bands, starting with the Mountain View High band at 6:30 p.m. Saturday. They'll be followed onto the field (to perform) at 12-minute intervals by Piedmont Hills, Lincoln, Hogan, Highlands, John Swett (All Class III), Los Altos, Sunnyvale, Amador Valley, Fairfield, Silver Creek and Modesto (All Class II), and Armijo, Independence, Fremont, Cupertino, Livermore, and Live Oak, all Class I.

The host Foothill band will conclude the evening with a performance from 10:22 to 10:32.

Awards are scheduled to be presented at 10:45 p.m.

An exciting byproduct of the Americana '77 Band Review is the chance for Valley residents to see most of the "local" bands in action.

Gaels' letter-bearers will lead Dublin High band in competition Saturday.

Band parade starts at 11 a.m.

It's called Americana '77 and the event brings together the best high school bandsmen in Northern California.

Saturday's parade and field competition in Pleasanton marks the third such event sponsored by the Foothill High School Band Boosters.

But before the bandsmen step of their busses tomorrow and before the crowd of 5,000 or more view the parade through downtown Pleasanton (starting at 11 a.m.), hundreds of man powers will have been chalked up by the Boosters in preparation.

Those hours of planning are based on pride—emanating from a band organization at Foothill High School that grew from the humblest of beginnings to a stature that says, "We're tops...and getting better (If you'll excuse a slogan borrowed from a Bay Area television station)."

To the 31 bands coming to Pleasanton Saturday, the parade and field competition at night at Amador Valley High are tantamount to the next big game on the schedule.

All of the bands and band member, plus hundreds of letter girls and drum majors, will be competing for trophies to be awarded at two ceremonies Saturday. The trophy presentations are slated for 3:30 at the Fairgrounds Amphitheatre (for the parade) and at the conclusion of the halftime competition (about 11 p.m. Saturday at Amador's Patterson Field).

The big show, for parade lovers, will be along Main Street in Pleasanton and that starts at 11 and is expected to last through 1:30 or 2 p.m. A reviewing stand, with Lt. Col. Roger McLain as chief reviewing officer, will be setup near the police headquarters.

Admission to the field competition, scheduled to start at 6:30 p.m., is $2 for adults and $1 for students. Food concession booths will be in operation.

Bands marching tomorrow, in addition to Foothill, include the award-winning Amador Valley High band under the baton of James Campana and Doug Balaban, Dublin High School, Livermore, Granada, John Swett of Crockett, Half Moon Bay, Pacific Grove, Capuchino of San Bruno, Santa Cruz, Prospect of San Jose, San Ramon of Danville, Highlands of Sacramento, Modesto, Los Altos, Miramonte of Orinda, Tracy, Kennedy of Fremont, Silver Creek of San Jose, Lodi, Sunnyvale, Fairfield, Tokay of Lodi, Live Oak of Morgan Hill, Armijo of Fairfield, Fremont of Sunnyvale, Watsonville, Cupertino, Independence of San Jose, and Merced.

Holiday season spawns new jobs

The job outlook in Alameda County will brighten during the next two months as stores hire more retail clerks for the Christmas shopping season, according to John Leutza, resource person for the state's Employment Development Department.

Meanwhile, jobs in agriculture, food processing, trucking and wholesale trade are declining at the end of the harvest season. Despite the high level of construction activity, jobs in the building industry will drop seasonally with the onset of winter rain, said the department.

A sampling of job estimates about availability of jobs in various occupations shows "moderate" demand in many categories. Among them are electronic technicians, programmers, chemists, registered nurses, apartment house managers, offset and duplicating machine operators, medical transcriptionists, key-punch operators, general office clerks, barbers and cosmetologists, home service workers, diesel mechanics, experienced diesel mechanics in Livermore and Hayward, office machine servicer, and instrument repairer.

There also is a moderate demand for TV and radio repairers, auto body repairers, major household appliance repairers in Livermore, Berkeley and Hayward, and service station attendants.

Pleasanton favors east county center but questions jail

PLEASANTON — City government definitely wants the East County Government Center to be built here, but isn't sure it would be willing to accept a pre-trial detention facility along with that center.

At the city council meeting Tuesday, members recommended a 20 acre parcel of land on Hopyard Road northeast of the planned Stoneridge Road as the site for the proposed government county center courthouses and offices.

But members agreed the council wants more information before telling the county it could also accept the possibility of a jail. That jail is not definitely planned to be built with the courthouses, however, the county wants the city to be prepared should the county decide the jail is needed.

The recommended site, owned by the Willow West Corporation, is one of several the board of supervisors are considering. All council members agree the county government center would attract business to the city.

But member Joyce LeClaire particularly expressed fear that the possibility of a 70-bed jail could turn into a nightmare if the county later decides to increase it to a 200-bed facility.

Members generally agreed that a small pre-trial jail would pose no problem to the city, but said they want assurance from the county that the facility will only be a pre-trial jail and won't ever hold large numbers of felon suspects.

Three C's has job openings in remote areas

The California Conservation Corps has announced openings for five jobs at remote or isolated locations.

Applications for conservationist technicians and administrators must consist of interviews only; no written tests are required.

Salaries range from $840 to $2,210 per month. For further information, contact the Employment Development Department located at 1783 Barcelona St. in Livermore.

SR Elks plan benefit dance

The proposed San Ramon Valley Elks Lodge, in an effort to attract enough members to become a bonafide chartered lodge, is sponsoring a dinner dance Saturday from 7 p.m. until midnight at the Pleasanton Veterans Building.

There will be prizes for best costumes, although wearing a costume is optional. Music will be played by the Bob Boring Band and no host cocktails will be available. Tickets costing $5 can be purchased at the door.

Napa rule hits county space needs

OAKLAND — Alameda County government is moving to solve a problem created by Napa State Hospital's banning of the county's tougher criminal suspects from the state mental hospital.

Napa Hospital told the county in February that it no longer will take mentally ill dependents with high bail or otherwise indicate a high escape risk.

As a result, the county shifted the prisoners to Highland Hospital's psychiatric ward, which put a strain on that institution's facilities. The county has come up with short and long term solutions. In the short term, a 20 bed ward in a separate building at Higand can be used. It is due to be ready in a week or two.

Needed funding would amount to $1.7 million for 43 full time equivalent mental health positions and six full-time sheriff's jobs. The ward would operate seven days a week, 24 hours a day for inpatients.

Valley assemblyman lauds tax break bill for elderly

Assemblyman Floyd Mori (D-Pleasanton) applauded the recent signing of legislation that will immediately lift the heavy burden of property taxes from the shoulders of elderly citizens throughout the state.

"This new law is a light in the lives of older homeowners who have feared they would be driven from their homes, friends and communities because they could not meet escalating property tax obligations."

"I'm proud to be a part of the solution, as is everyone who voted for Proposition 13 in June 1976," Mori said.

Assembly Bill 1070 will enable older citizens to postpone payment of any part of their local property taxes until the home is sold, transferred or no longer the principal residence. Its provisions apply to homeowners 62 years old or more with an annual household income under $20,000, and home equity equal to at least 20 per cent of the last assessor's appraised value.

There is no lid on the market value of the home and the deferral can be applied to outstanding delinquent taxes, as well as current and future property tax bills.

"Two-thirds of all older citizens own their home. For many living on meager fixed incomes, it's the only tangible financial asset they have. This loan program will free seniors from the fear of being uprooted and put cash back in their pockets," Mori said.

When the home changes hands, the state will recoup the taxes with 7 per cent interest compounded annually. Meanwhile, with extra cash, seniors will be able to take better care of themselves with less assistance from others.

The program is set up so that every qualified taxpayer will be eligible for all other property tax assistance, and has the additional right to defer any portion of the remaining local property tax. They may also pay back any portion of the deferred taxes.

Vallecitos Lab

When General Electric Company and Pacific Gas & Electric announced plans some 22 years ago to build and operate "the world's first peacetime nuclear power plant" in a valley near Sunol, there were those to suggest that our agriculture, our children and even the bread we toasted "in one of those atomic-powered toasters" would be forevermore threatened.

In two decades we have instead enjoyed the productivity and the taxes of this good corporate neighbor, even while our communities also profited from the civic labors of those General Electric employees who have made this their home.

No nuclear accident, no harmful discharge and certainly no adverse impact on their neighbors has been charged against that handsome Nuclear Center in its 20 years on this scene.

That it is not to suggest there will never be an accident, or any harmful discharge from General Electric's Vallecitos operation. But, based on two decades of experience, this Valley can count that laboratory as one of our very finest taxpaying industrial tenants.

Now there are those outsiders who would protect us, and our environment, from the "deadly peril" of that same GE facility. They tell us that "newly discovered faults" in the ground around that Vallecitos site makes the whole operation suspect. (They do not bother to mention that earthquake faults threaten virtually every home, every school, industry and public gathering place throughout this basin.)

We don't know about the probability of an earthquake splitting just that nuclear reactor asunder. We do know that the Vallecitos plant represents the kind of clean, taxpaying industry which this Valley needs if we are to support our schools and our local services.

If outsiders would want to save us, let them start attacking the smog-producing industries in those East Bay centers which then export their dirty air into this basin. For us, the reality of smog is a far greater threat than the one in a billion chance of a quake-induced nuclear disaster.

Property rights

There is no question that the public is often well served by those who speak out for such things as parks, open space or the environment.

Neither is there any doubt that the community needs those who champion private property rights, even when those rights must sometimes be at odds with the apparent "public need."

SEEC is an ad hoc panel for Social, Economic, Environmental Concerns. Founded by and for those who own large tracts of ranch land in this basin, SEEC has outgrown that role to embrace also those who feel their home, or any other private right, is threatened.

This Valley is well and often served by such as the Sierra Club, Friends of the Earth and so forth. It is in the spirit of intelligent, responsible democracy that we also have found a voice through an agency such as SEEC.

This Friday evening the friends of SEEC hold their "annual harvest daze wine tasting." The Villa Armando Winery on St. John Street in Pleasanton is the setting for that modest fund-raiser. You may wish to participate.

And Golden Goose

Now stand by for a blast at the goose, the one that's supposed to lay those golden eggs.

Students throughout the nation are being invited to win cash prizes for themselves, and honors for their school, even while they learn about the merits of America's free enterprise system. Wheelabrator-Frye Inc., the nation's foremost exponent of profit, is sponsor of this annual "contest."

The real goal, the sponsor readily admits, is to indoctrinate young people into the ways and the wher-efors of big business. That alone is enough to raise the hackles of every civil libertarian who sees "big business" and (ugh) "profit" as the enemies of free-thinking, free-spending American youth.

Wheelabrator-Frye calls its contest "The Golden Goose," with obvious reference to that other fairy tale... the one where greedy people cut up the source of their wealth and their daily bread. Come to think of it, we could all use a refresher course on our old friend, the Goose.

Store's porno mags

Editor, The Times:
Atten: Open letter to the Times and the Pleasanton City Council.

It's a sad day in our fair suburban community when a mother has to obtain a babysitter in order to run to the store for a half gallon of milk. I am speaking of the small, convenient on the way home sort of store, which contains everything from milk and cookies to liquor, and some of the most disgusting reading material ever seen by yours truly.

The material is displayed from floor level, up... in complete view for "young and old" alike. You and I know there is no law for displaying such moral decay, but how about some kind of City Ordinance? Better yet, since the Federal, State and local Government in this country can't cope with the problem, why don't you and I settle the matter. Mail one post card to the City Council. If we can't stop the sales harass them with building inspections, fire inspections, whatever! Because of the hostile reply of one of the proprietors of a store mentioned above, I will not sign this letter. When I speak of this matter I realize the "big money" involved.

We live in anxiety producing times, and the increase of distribution of such material is increasingly widespread and contributes as a symptom of that anxiety. The greatest potential for social harm is the scaring of young people.

Good book

You might like "Suds In Your Eye" if you enjoy reading just for fun once in a while.

Author Mary Lasswell doesn't burden the reader with any deep messages. Nor is it a new book. The copyright date is 1942.

Two sequels, "Tooner Schooner" and "One For the Road" deal with the same bunch of lovable characters.

If there is any message in these three books, it seems to be that having good friends, good beer, good times and helping others is a great way to live, according to the characters.

The three over-the-hill worthies conveying that message are Mrs. Annie Feeley, Miss Agnes Harriet Tinkham and Mrs. Rasmussen (first name never mentioned).

Secondary characters named Old-Timer, Kate (Logan) Malone and Danny Malone round out the group.

Since Miss Tinkham and Mrs. Rasmussen are down on their luck, Mrs. Feeley invites them to share her unique abode. It is wartime and housing is scarce and high priced.

The house is situated on Mrs. Feeley's junk yard property known as Noahs Ark. Old-Timer is the friend and handyman who helps out around the Ark.

Mrs. Feeley tells the others her deceased "Mister" gave the junk yard that name "because you can find two of everything inside."

The wall in front of the house is made entirely of empty beer cans. Mrs. Feeley explains, "Them beer cans kep' pilin' up so fast I never closed an eye till I figured out some way to use 'em up."

Miss Tinkham's claim to fame is playing piano. She enjoys banging out classical tunes on Mrs. Feeley's bright red piano that has had the front removed. She also enjoys "dressing like a lady."

Mrs. Feeley admires Miss Tinkham's long strings of beads and numerous chains. But she wonders if Miss Tinkham's Dutch cap of net embroidered in sequins is quite the thing to wear for a morning stroll. Miss Tinkham also sports a "cloudy-looking lorgnette."

Mrs. Rasmussen is the trio's cook. She prides herself on being able to cook gourmet meals without spending a lot of money on the ingredients.

The three have to curtail their penchant for beer drinking after learning Mrs. Feeley's tax collector is a fake. For six years he has been pocketing her payments.

FOCUS/Nat'l IWY

A stacked deck?

When the 1,400 or more delegates to the National Conference of International Women's Year gather in Houston in mid-November there is little reason to doubt that an overwhelming majority will be committed to passage of the Equal Rights Amendment.

But the ERA, though a dominant issue, is not the only one that will be discussed and/or acted upon.

There is some reason to believe that the various sessions will also deal with redefining of certain actions such as rape and obscenity, expansion of day care centers, unionism, homosexuals and the political process and elimination of veterans preference in employment.

The National IWY Conference has been preceded by state gatherings, at which delegates acted on various resolutions and, apparently, selected representatives to the conference in Houston next month.

There is also reason to believe this conference may be "stacked" before it ever begins.

With this in mind, Citizens Forum, based in Fort Worth, Texas, has scheduled a Pro-Family, Pro-Life Rally in Houston on the 19th of November.

The debate has long since been enjoined with the National Organization of Women (NOW) and pro-ERA supporters on one side and Eagle Forum, Citizens Forum, and the Association of W's on the other.

Our feelings concerning the ERA, homosexuals, obscenity and pornography have been made clear in these columns on more than a couple occasions in the past.

Suffice to say we are totally repulsed by and opposed to any action or movement that demeans or can lead to undermining of the family unit.

There is a groundswell building within this country amongst persons of all races, creeds and colors that is fed up with unpopular, deviant and "kinky" causes being forced upon them.

To be told you WILL accept homosexuals and lesbians, you WILL support the advancement of women and minorities for alleged past discriminatory practices are not the actions of a democratic society, they are the acts of a fascist state and oppressive.

If the summary of resolutions passed at the California IWY meeting in June are accurate, attendants of the National IWY Conference in Houston will urge passage of the ERA as first priority. The California IWY conferees allegedly went one step further and suggested pressure and punishment of states which have not ratified ERA.

State participants are also alleged to have resolved that there be a greater number of homosexuals appointed or elected to public offices, federal and state governments "guarantee" 24-hour quality child care centers, veteran preference in employment be eliminated or severely limited, more funds be provided for training classes for women, adding of "sexual preference" as "suspect" in equal opportunity laws, and wages for homemakers.

There were many more resolutions passed, more than a few being as controversial as some of the aforementioned.

Those with a concern on the issues brought up at the state IWY conference, which will be brought forward at the National IWY Conference in Houston starting Nov. 10re by contacting any one of the groups mentioned previously.

That would include the Valley chapter of NOW, Association of the W's (Women Who Want to be Women), via P.O. Box 713 in Fairfield, Calif. 94533, Pro-Family Pro-Life Coalition, via P.O. Box 38609 in Houston 77088, and Eagle Forum in Alton, Ill.

Reader response

To The Times:

Attn: Sue Vogelsanger

For weeks now I have been meaning to drop you a note to express our gratitude for the articles you have written about our school. Within a week after the running of your article and picture in September, we had filled all of our seven openings.

We have been continually impressed by the reader response that The Times generates and are grateful for the personal interest that you have shown in Hill'n Dale Preschool. It sure makes my task easier!

It's our canal

Editor, The Times:

I am very disappointed in President Carter and his statement that the United States did not own the Panama Canal.

The following statement is from the World Almanac. "The Canal Zone extends 5 miles on each side of the axis of the Panama Canal. On November 18, 1903 Panama granted the Canal strip to the United States by treaty, ratified February 26, 1904, compensation $10,000,000 with annual payments of $250,000 after 9 years and a guarantee of Panama independence."

Livermore center

Editor, The Times:

The picture of the proposed design of the new Livermore City Hall that appeared in the Valley Times last week gives us little to cheer about. It is bound to reinforce the image of mediocrity that many people have in their minds regarding the city. How many times have we gone through other cities and on seeing a beautiful and inspiring building said, "why can't Livermore have something like this?"

One elegant building, public or private, can do more to enhance the beauty of the city than can several of those mini-parks. We put great emphasis on saving the structures that are more than a few years old. How about building something that would be worth saving!

Eight cat lives

Editor, The Times:

I write to thank you for giving space to the article, "Eight cat lives to go," by Arline Butterfield.

Because of your apparent value for life, and Mrs. Butterfield's marvellous writing abilities, including the generosity of Mrs. Trivno of St. Mary's Thrift Shop, every one of the starving seven has had their health restored and have all been placed in good homes. My sincere thanks to all of you, and a very special thank you to all you wonderful people who so quickly responded to the adoption needs of the kittens, as reported in the article. May I wish each one of you and your kitten a long and happy life.

It's obvious that a tremendous amount of love was generated by each person who played a part in the preservation of life concerning the abandoned pets.

Are you listening dear Zuppa?

Editor, The Times:

Southern Pacific is banking on public apathy and that of its workers not to protest the abandonment from San Ramon to Dougherty, of this colorful and historically rich railroad branchline.

Let's not let them get away with it. There's plenty of business potential along this route.

The I.C.C. hearing is in Walnut Creek at 9:30 a.m. November 1, Community Room, second floor Great Western Savings, 1501 Mt. Diablo Building. Judge Walter Alprin will preside.

Fair vs. county

Editor, The Times:

With regard to the recent news releases pertaining to the Alameda County Fair Association, Valerie Raymond, Fred Cooper and et al.

Is it not past time for the Public concerned, to thoroughly scrutinize the attitudes of those Supervisor's advocating the replacement of the aforementioned Association, an Association who, both in the past and present, have operated the Fair in such a grandiose manner as to be the envy of many other such operations throughout the State of California and others. The Alameda County Fair is one, of very few, if not the only one within the State that is completely self-supporting and, gives every indication of continuing to be so, barring disruption, in the form of our current County Supervisor's.

Reading between the lines of current news releases, a vendetta appears to exist, especially on the part of Valerie Raymond and, perhaps others of the Supervisor's, which leads me to ask, what and why? As a layman, I could appreciate an explanation but seriously doubt, that one such, of any real worth, will be forth coming.

In conclusion, I would hope, that the Good Citizen's of the County, would raise their voices in the interest of preserving our annual fair as we know it, and love it.

round the town

WASHINGTON — This is the city of Watergate, of the Tidal Basin where Congress has been known to wash its dirty linen, the wayside stop for Bert Lance, the watering hole for those who would help Korea, no matter what the cost to America.

This is the place from which pours forth a daily liturgy of near misses, of goals never quite achieved, of heroes never quite fulfilled.

"Why would you want to spend a week in Washington, and in October?" we are asked. Arriving here with overcoat and umbrella, an impossible list of things to do, people and places to see, I started our D.C. venture with the same question: "Why Washington? And why in the uncertain month of October?"

But then, that first morning, we walked from our hotel to the Mall, just beyond the Smithsonian, and we stood on that green expanse anchored by the Capitol dome to the east and George Washington's edifice to the west, and we understood why us, and why 18 million others who make this pilgrimage every year, in every season.

We attended a concert in the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, knowing it was close by Watergate, prepared to remember two presidents who, each in their own vanity, failed us a little.

But our journey took us past the memorials to Thomas Jefferson and to Abraham Lincoln... outstanding works of art worthy of two outstanding Americans. So we read the words and recalled the deeds and we agreed with the poet who observed that "the good men do live forevermore..."

Standing there, at the base of Jefferson's Memorial, with the reflection of George Washington's memory dancing on nearby waters, I understood a little why Americans still come here, like pilgrims in search of a refresher course in citizenship.

Back home, the questions of too much growth and too little energy still abound. We are apologetic for our past, fearful for our future.

Then you stand in the museum dedicated to the men who first conquered space... looking at the ship that carried Lindbergh on his impossible journey... the cramped capsule which rocketed three men into orbit... and later, you see one covered wagon in which an entire family survived during their journey across the space of this continent... and you remember that there has never been a challenge too great, a goal too far for men and women and children of good faith.

Is this flag waving? Perhaps. But it is difficult to stand in the center of a nation's history, the collective tribute to two centuries of triumph, and be not proud of that flag, and those who served under it.

More than a symbol. More even than a place. Washington is the treasure house of giants, of those who had vision far beyond their station, of builders who dared to dream, of dreamers who dared to build.

Oh yes, there is corruption here too. The corruption of ambitious people, the shame of black - only suburbs, the waste of a city's work force one-fourth of which is employed by Federal government.

Washington is a community that reflects — no better, no worse — the sins of civilized man. Not every structure is a tribute to past glory, a promise of future greatness.

There is, for instance, the J. Edgar Hoover Building for the FBI. A bold edifice that stands not far from the White House. Some say not far enough. It is a public relation's dream. An open invitation to inspect the workings of our federal police... or at least all those workings which Mr. Hoover's minions believe we should inspect.

How distant in time and spirit is the new FBI structure from the 80-year-old Library of Congress. From the moment you enter the magnificent Great Hall until you climb the cerra marble steps to gaze upon the breathless depths and heights of the Main Reading Room, the Library is a unique example in this country of the Italian renaissance. More, it is a revival of our American artistry, a tribute to our willingness (and to the courage of the Army Corps of Engineers!) to perpetuate real beauty.

Perhaps it's the splendor of fall colors. Maybe it's vacation fever. Call it what you want, I'm an American in love with Washington. In an upcoming report, I'll share with you some of the places, the costs and the pitfalls of our week in the nation's Capitol.

Dr. Joyce Brothers

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My son has lived with several women. He tells my wife and me that he wants a really good marriage and he feels this will insure it. I don't quite understand his reasoning. My wife and I have had a very happy marriage and I'll have to confess, with some embarrassment in today's world, that I didn't live with her before we married. We wonder if our son will ever settle down. I don't understand today's morality, but if it leads to happier marriages, I guess I'd have to go along, because I think happiness is most important. What are your views? — O.V.

DEAR O.V.: I feel there are really no hard and fast rules about this because a great deal depends upon the individuals involved and their particular circumstances. I think that practice doesn't make perfect when it comes to sex, however, and I believe that too much experimentation has a detrimental effect on marriage.

There are studies that indicate couples who live together before marriage are less likely to have happy and successful marriages than couples who live apart until their wedding day.

Nancy Moore Clatworthy, associate professor of sociology at Ohio State University, interviewed 100 couples in 1975 and concluded that living together is not a good prelude to marriage. The couples, aged 18 to 35, were selected at random. The differences in the couples chosen were not significant, but those who had not lived together first were higher on all scales. They were more involved and happier.

Living together takes some of the romance and mystery out of marriage. Some mystery is stimulating and some romance helps marriages to endure. Despite your feelings or mine, since your son is an adult, he must be the final judge.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My brother and I grew up in a very authoritarian family. I don't know whether this caused our shyness, but we've both suffered a great deal all our lives from this problem. It's held my brother back in his career and it's held me back socially. I want very much to meet new people, especially men, because I'd like to find a nice man to marry. I hate being alone and yet I can't force myself to go to parties. How can I overcome this problem? — M.D.

DEAR M.D.: In order to overcome acute shyness, you have to be able to take risks, to plunge into new situations even though you can't always control them. Shyness is really a fear of failure in some situation and it can cripple people and make their lives miserable.

America is a nation of shy people. This is surprising to many who think Americans are unusually open, friendly and outgoing. A nation or a home that places too much value on success and winning is apt to produce more than its share of shy people, because the opposite of success and winning is failure and losing. Some people are so afraid of failure they're unable to make any choices in life for fear they may make a wrong or imperfect choice.

To overcome shyness, you have to set up situations, in your case, social situations, where you learn to cope with some failure and lack of success. You'll soon see that it isn't as disastrous and damaging as you'd imagined.

Try to concentrate on the other person's interests, rather than your own. Remember that others may be shy, too, but may show it in different ways.

SIDE GLANCES

"These days he's into Bette Midler, brown rice, ESP and hardening of the arteries!"

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB—I would like to know if it is possible to lose a "secretary's spread"? I have thought about quitting my job because of the sitting down all day, every day. I have gained four inches on my rear quarters and thighs in four years since I have had this job.

I would like to know if my hips and legs can be brought back to their original size or close to it? If so, how do I go about it and if exercise is the answer, what kind is best? I have cut down on my eating.

DEAR READER—The act of sitting does not cause inches to be added to your seat or pounds of fat to accumulate over your buttocks or thighs. The problem is the same as for the person who develops a large waist. It is that old problem of consuming more calories than your body uses. The end result is FAT which is simply stored energy and it has to be stored somewhere.

"Somewhere" for you is your buttocks and thighs. In the next person it may be the waist. There are individual differences in where the fat deposits will locate. You were probably born with a tendency to deposit fat in those locations.

In one ethnic group in Africa the people have a characteristic of having very large buttocks—a large fat pad. It is a racial characteristic for that group as opposed to other ethnic groups in Africa. It is not that these people are necessarily fatter than another race but their inherited characteristic is to store their fat over the buttocks.

Because your job requires you to sit a lot you probably use less calories than you used in the past. It is the total inactivity combined with your calorie intake that leads to fat deposits.

You can't "spot reduce" the area. The way to get rid of it is to reverse the "calories in, calories used" ratio by changing your diet and increasing your activity.

Exercise will help and as I mentioned in The Health Letter I am sending you that is a good way to help protect your muscles while getting rid of fat. I think everyone on a reducing diet should have some type of exercise program as well.

Exercising your hips and buttocks will not cause fat to melt away over these areas. It will simply be part of your total exercise program to use calories.

You can tighten the muscles in that area and firm them just as you can tighten and firm any muscle. That means contracting and relaxing the muscle groups. For the seat you can do bumps and grinds. You can also get some benefit from standing up and voluntarily tightening your seat muscles and then relaxing them. Hold the muscles in the tension position for a few seconds each time.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "WHAT IS A BOWERBIRD?"

ARNOLD ELLIOTT SARDINIA, OH

A. THE BOWERBIRD IS AN AUSTRALIAN BIRD THAT BUILDS A BRIGHTLY DECORATED NEST WHICH IS USED TO ATTRACT THE FEMALE OF THE SPECIES

Imagine a bird that builds a playhouse, and then decorates it with flowers and bright objects. That's what the bowerbird of Australia and New Zealand does.

The playhouse, or bower, is not a nest. It is a little run or chamber the male bowerbird builds with twigs and grass to attract the female bowerbird.

He decorates the entrance to his bower with feathers, flowers, shiny pebbles, and other bits of colorful material.

He may even paint the inside of the bower with the juice crushed from berries, using his bill as a paintbrush!

As the decorations fade or wither, the bowerbird replaces them with fresh ones. Within his bower, he bows, dances and sings until he has won his mate.

When it comes time to make the actual nest, however, the female bowerbird must build it herself. She builds a simple nest in the branches of a tree and raises her young alone.

astrograph

Oct. 28, 1977

This coming year should be a fun one. You'll be more adventurous than usual and eager to add excitement to your life. Your common sense and self-discipline will protect you from straying where you shouldn't.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Sluggish allies are likely to slow down your pace a bit today. Nevertheless, once you pick up momentum you'll sweep them along at your speed. Like to find out more of what lies ahead for you? Send for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Some of the responsibilities of others may be shifted to your shoulders today. A resentful attitude will make the tasks even tougher.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Outmoded work methods should be updated wherever possible. Be imaginative. Don't be afraid to try techniques with a unique twist.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You function best today operating independently. Assistants who are usually helpful are apt to get underfoot.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) One of your coworkers could be abrasive today, and a difficult person to deal with. Subdue the urge to put her in her place.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In many ways today you're very giving. Where money is an issue, however, your generosity has definite limitations.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The morning will not be without nominal bumps and bruises, but this won't dismay you. Turning losers into winners is your bag today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be prepared to stand up for your rights, especially if something owed you is long overdue. The squeaking wheel gets the oil today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Events could unravel in a manner today to put a severe strain on your staying power. Don't chuck in the towel. The last round is yours.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Calculating tactics will produce nothing of real benefit for you today. Besides, it's not your style. You wouldn't take pride in a crafty victory.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The apex is reachable today, but you're a tough customer to convince. Don't let self-doubts dilute your ambitions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be selective of which friends you ask favors of today. Some will go all-out, but one pal won't do anything without expecting more in return.

South looked over dummy carefully before playing to the first trick. He wanted to find a way to win 12 tricks. His first decision was that he just wouldn't make the hand if he had to lose a trump trick. He had nine top tricks. Could he ruff two diamonds and a spade in dummy? It didn't seem likely. How about doing something with the clubs?

Then South let the spade come around to his ace and promptly played out his ace and king of trumps. Should trumps break 3-1 he wanted to win the third lead in dummy. Sure enough they did break 3-1.

He entered dummy with the queen of trumps, led the queen of clubs and discarded a spade after East played low. West took his ace and led another spade. South won with dummy's king and led the jack of clubs.

It didn't matter what East did. South was going to make two spades, two diamonds, two clubs and his own five trumps with one diamond ruff in dummy.

The death of performer Bing Crosby has meant the change of a program originally scheduled Friday by Bob Hope. The two-hour special, one the first of the year for Hope was to have been titled "The Road to Hollywood." Instead, the performer will be host for a tribute in honor of Crosby. Rare footage of Hope and Crosby's appearances, plus clips from the classic "Road" shows will be included. The original program, recorded earlier, will be rebroadcast.

TV Comedy Writer Wings It on Radio

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When last seen, Pat McCormick sat gloomily in a Hollywood bistro. He was bemoaning a great fiscal loss incurred by his investment in a diaper service in Sun City. He recently was asked how he plans to recoup his loss.

But the six-foot-six, 250-pound Irishman needn't depend on that for a living. He's a top comedy writer here, with 5 years on "Tonight," plus credit on a string of comedy specials and movies.

In the last three years, he's also acted in four movies — "The Shaggy D.A.," Robert Altman's "Buffalo Bill and the Indians," "Burt Reynolds' "Smoky and the Bandit" and Altman's new "A Wedding."

It now turns out that this mustachioed citizen, once honored as "The World's Tallest Leprechaun," has yet another career going — in radio comedy, a species of entertainment heretofore believed extinct.

He and a partner, Al Barzman, produce and star in a show called "Studio B." It's a series of weird 90-second interviews they've syndicated to radio stations nationally since June 1976.

Church leaders oppose restraints on Africans

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK — American church leaders this week widely condemned the new restrictions imposed on blacks and their white sympathizers in South Africa and said it would heighten resentments, threatening worsened conflict.

"My worst fears are being fulfilled," said the Rev. Dr. Robert J. Marshall, president of the Lutheran Church in America, noting that he recently visited in South Africa, and saw potentialities then for spreading "police state" rule.

It was bound to happen unless blacks were given greater freedom and a part in government, he said, and it now is occurring with the new "horribly confining restraints."

The trend "could confront the world with a crisis like that of 40 years ago in Europe" under the oppression of Nazism, he added.

He and other church leaders voiced support for President Carter's criticism of the new oppressive acts, and urged backing for U.S. steps to try to get the decrees reversed.

The Rev. Avery D. Post, president of the United Church of Christ, called for economic sanctions, and noted that his church has urged withdrawal of U.S. businesses investments from South Africa.

He said that "for the sake of the God of justice ... the United States must not remain quiescent in the face of the ruthless denials of justice" applied to blacks and white leaders working for racial justice.

'You Up There, Come Down'

LIVERMORE — A special schedule and format will be used this Sunday morning, Oct. 30, at Asbury United Methodist Church as Stewardship Sunday is celebrated and the Stewardship campaign underwriting the church's 1978 budget is launched.

Under the leadership of Doug Webb, chairman, and the members of the church's Stewardship Commission, the morning worship in the Sanctuary, beginning at 9:30 a.m. will be followed by a "Lord's Breakfast" for the congregation in the Fellowship Hall.

"You Up There, Come Down," is the sermon title. The Folk Choir will sing during the worship service, and throughout breakfast in the Fellowship Hall. New members will be received into the church during the family portion of the Sunday worship at 9:30 a.m.

16th Century Calvin service

LIVERMORE — This Reformation Sunday, the service at the First Presbyterian Church, 4th and L Streets, will be styled after Calvin's service of the 16th century.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed in the pews after the sermon by the Rev. William Nebo. The Sanctuary Choir will sing "Jesus Christ Our Strong Salvation."

During the Offertory, Bob and Marjorie Seldon and Phyllis Harding will offer a selection on the oboe, flute and clarinet.

There will be no classes at 9:30 a.m. Child care and regular church school classes will be available at 10:30 a.m.

EBAL football: the biggest week

Livermore High School's football team hopes to slow down Monte Vista's Cinderella drive to the East Bay Athletic League football title tonight in Danville.

The Cowboys (3-1 and pre-season favorites for the crown) will go up against a 4-0 Mustang squad that has surprised virtually everybody.

In other EBAL games tonight San Ramon (3-1) travels to Dublin (3-1) in another key contest, California (0-4) is at Amador Valley (2-2) and Foothill (0-4) travels to Granada (1-3).

LIVERMORE-MONTE VISTA

It's a must game for the Cowboys. If they lose, they're virtually eliminated from the title race. However, a win will tie the chase up and possibly leave four or five teams still in the run for the championship.

Livermore's main weapon is quarterback Nash Piazza, who handles the veer offense with great skill. He was in quarterback Nash Piazza, who handles the veer offense with great skill. He was stopped by Dublin's aggressive defense last week but has been a threat in every other contest. The Cowboys also have a host of running backs to throw at Monte Vista.

But defense has been the 'Pokes' biggest asset this season. Until the Dublin tilt Livermore defenders had given up only 14 points in three EBAL games.

However, Monte Vista will counter with a strong running game with quarterback Bart Adams and running back John Pashby. Pashby has run for 320 yards and Adams for 306 in EBAL action. Adams is also a dangerous passer, particularly on roll-outs.

SAN RAMON-DUBLIN

After a brilliant 25-0 shutout of Livermore last week Dublin High School will have a new quarterback signals tonight.

Junior Derrick Woolridge will be the quarterback in place of senior Mike Hardy, the EBAL's leading passer who was dropped from the a brilliant job of leading the Gaels to a 13-12 win over Granada three weeks ago.

Dublin coach Wayne Re feels Derrick can do the job.

"He's fast on his feet and can really fire the ball," Re said. He did an excellent job running the team late in the game against Livermore.

Another change in the Dublin line-up is at fullback where Lynn Beamon and Dennis King will alternate playing time. Jon Batchelor, who has rushed for over 100 yards in his last two games, will start again at tailback.

Dan Pearson is an outstanding wide receiver for the Gaels. He leads the EBAL with 27 catches for 400 yards and four touchdowns in league play.

San Ramon has some offensive tools of its own to throw at the Gaels.

And THROW is the key word. Wolf quarterback Guy Houston has completed 44 of 77 passes for 513 yards and six touchdowns in EBAL play. He has only thrown three interceptions.

He has several fine receivers to throw to and quick, if small, offensive line to give him time.

"We'll just have to rush him as much as possible," Re commented. "We used a few different defensive variations against Livermore last week and we might use a few more against San Ramon."

Intensity is the key to most high school football games and the Gaels had plenty of it last week.

Will they have it against the Wolves?

"I sure hope so," laughed Re.

CALIFORNIA-AMADOR

Despite losing its last two games Amador Valley still has one of the more talented units in the league.

Wingback Rob Flores has improved greatly over the past few games and ran for 151 yards in 22 carries last week against San Ramon.

The Dons will go with junior Tim Monday at quarterback in place of injured Pat Inglesby. Inglesby hurt his shoulder last week.

Monday hit Paul McCleary with a bomb last week and also set up Amador Valley's final touchdown.

Ernie Zumbach will be at the fullback spot and has both size and quickness.

The Dons have one of the largest clubs in the league with almost 50 members.

The Grizzlies are still looking for their first win in league play.

California used three quarterbacks last week against Granada in a losing cause. Matt Dulick will probably start at quarterback this week. Ken Major, who had been the Grizzly quarterback, will see a lot of action at running back. He is a converted fullback and has the speed to run well. Tyler Laurie is also a standout running back.

FOOTHILL-GRANADA

After losing its first three EBAL games Granada came back with a convincing 40-8 win over California last week.

The Matadors will be at near-full strength for the contest. Defensive end Vernon Fowler injured his ankle in a flag football game last weekend and won't be able to play. Randy Wilkinson will take his place.

Either Steve Robison or Jay McGowan will start at quarterback for the Matadors. Robison was a standout last week on defense as he picked off two passes.

Despite three losses defensive back coach Rick Watt still feels Granada has a say in the title race.

"We have San Ramon and Livermore coming up," he said. "If we can knock them over we can say we had a successful season."

"I know the kids were enthusiastic last week and that helped out a lot."

Foothill has had a tough schedule so far but the young Falcons still have hopes of winning some games.

Sam Sisneroz was impressive for the Falcons last week, catching three passes for one touchdown against Monte Vista.

The Falcons' defensive backfield has also come a long ways in the past few weeks.

Dave Edney bounds across the line a winner in a personal best time.

Foothill scares Wolf volleyers

Foothill High School took lead-leading San Ramon to overtime in the second game in an East Bay Athletic League volleyball match last night before losing 15-3, 17-15.

In another EBAL match, Livermore edged Granada, 15-8, 10-15, 19-17.

San Ramon maintained its league lead with a 10-1 record, but was pressed by Foothill after an easy first-game victory. The Falcons' Kathy Spotorno and Carrie McNatt each served four points in their second-game comeback. Spotorno also turned in some key save, while McNatt was consistent spiking.

Kris Cooper played a good all-around game for the Wolves. Her setting was especially important to San Ramon's offense. Team-mate Linda Colbrandt also played well.

"Kris Cooper was outstanding for us. She did everything well and played her best game of the season," said San Ramon coach Mary Ann Paz.

Livermore and Granada are now both 6-5 in EBAL play after playing one of the closest matches of the season.

The two teams were tied at 13 in the third and deciding game and had to go through the entire service rotation before the 'Pokes finally came out on top, 19-17.

Donna DiGrazia served the final three points for Livermore, while team-mate Paula Ng's spike wrapped it up. Dina Newell played a good all-around game for Livermore, and Carol Young was the 'Pokes' top setter.

After easily winning the first game, 15-8, Livermore faltered in the second. Granada led almost the entire way to win, 15-10, and set up the third game thriller.

Livermore seemed to have bounced back from its second-game doldrums at the start of the third game, holding the lead several times. But Granada kept close to force the game into overtime.

In a junior varsity match, Livermore swept Granada, 15-8, 15-12. Betsy Hickman and Mary Harde-mann served well for the Cowboys.

John Gutierrez tossed a 15-yard touchdown pass to Ted Wittmayer and Gutierrez ran for the PAT for the first Cowboys score, while Raul Winder ran a kickoff back 85 yards for the final score in the third quarter.

Rob Alford had six individual tackles for Livermore at defensive tackle. Todd Dry carried the ball four times for 40 yards, while Winder Winder had 80 yards on 13 carries.

In another frosh tilt, Livermore stayed 5-0 with a 14-0 win over Monte Vista.

Granada frosh roll, 39-8

Matt Robison scored four touchdowns to lead Granada past Foothill 39-8 in a battle between two undefeated frosh football teams last night.

Robison scored on a run of 12 yards and caught three TD passes from Jack Trudeau of 34, 46 and 23 yards. Jim Ellingsworth hauled in a six-yard scoring pass, while Ben Brezeale scampered 25 yards for another Granada score. Brezeale led all rushers with 85 yards on seven carries, while Trudeau passed for 127 yards on five completions of seven attempts. The Mats rushed for 203 and passed for 133 yards, totaling 336 offensive yards.

The Falcons' lone score came on a six-yard run by Robert Cruz and the subsequent pass from Kovac to Reid.

In another frosh tilt, Livermore stayed 5-0 with a 14-0 win over Monte Vista.

Mats, Dons tie for title

Running through methodical meets and blessed with an upset of San Ramon by Livermore, Amador Valley and Granada shared the East Bay Athletic League cross-country title yesterday by romping to wins.

While Rob Wentworth set a course record for Livermore High of 15:56 in a slim 28-29 win for the 'Pokes over San Ramon, the Dons whipped Monte Vista 15-45 and the Matadors' clipped Foothill 16-41.

Amador and Granada finished the year with 6-1 records, while the 'Pokes and Wolves tied for third place with marks of 5-2.

Jim Hunter set a course record for Granada in their win over Foothill. He raced over the course in 16:00, 27 seconds ahead of second-place Matador Jeff Winkler.

Brian O'Dell ran a course record for the frosh-soph Mats, clocking a 10:22 in an 18-39 win over the Falcons.

Arlene Daley completed the Granada record-breaking crew with an 11:16 effort in the girls' race, as the Mats beat the Falcons 11-31.

Dublin defeated California 18-43 in another year-ending meet. Robin Moss ran a 16:10 while Steve Hayes followed with a 16:24 to pace the winners. Jack Vickory led all Cal runners with a clocking of 16:30.

No records were set in Amador's win, but some came close as Dave Edney improved his time by ten seconds to a 15:35 over the Kottinger Park 3-mile course to place ahead of all varsity runners.

Lloyd Chapman was one of the most impressive Dons, running for a 15:47 time, 17 seconds better than his previous best. Mario DeSilva's time of 15:56 was also his seasonal best.

Bill Langemui came close for the AV JV's, running a 10:21 on a two-mile course to finish first in the Dons' 15-45 win. They finished the year undefeated.

Langemui was six seconds off the course record set by Curtis Smith.

The 'Pokes' win over the Wolves put a high note to an otherwise bad luck season. Steve Lloyd, who finished second in 16:11, had to miss the first two meets of the year which could have made a difference in the long run. Jim Ankham and Mark Baker followed in third and fourth for the losers, Baker having held the previous course record in Danville's 3-mile course.

The EBAL meet will be held Thursday at Lafayette Reservoir, and the hotly-contested race will feature an all-out battle between the top four teams and the best runners from the bottom division.

League tennis tourney today

Vern Cedarlund and Todd Larson each won split-set matches to lead Livermore past Amador Valley 4-3 in East Bay Athletic League tennis action yesterday in Pleasanton.

The win enabled the 'Pokes to tie the Dons for second place in league action as both squad finished with 10-4 records.

Another match saw Granada High wind up a successful 8-6 season with a 7-0 win over Foothill.

The EBAL league tennis meet begins this morning at Granada High School, and indications are pointing toward another Monte Vista sweep of the seven spots up for grabs.

However, whereas last year's Mustang sweep of the meet was a bit unexpected, this year MV coach Floyd Baker and his crew might damper their whole season if they don't leave Granada with a full seven wins.

After rummaging through through all 12 of their EBAL contests, this is the moment the 'Stangs have been waiting for.

Some of the prime challengers for MV's taunted top two players, Doug Stone and Tripp Gordon, will come from Amador's Matt Anger and Livermore's Steve Williford.

Anger is the only player ever to defeat Stone in high school competition, having defeated the nationally-ranked player earlier this year.

Williford, meanwhile, has taken Stone to three sets on both occasions and lost a hard-fought match with Anger yesterday, 7-5, 6-4.

The 'Pokes took yesterday's match by virtue of clutch wins by Larson was down 0-40 to Amador's Dean Copeman in the third set at 5-5, but rallied for the win. Cedarlund, meanwhile, picked up some extra strength to knock off David Reineking 6-1, 4-6, 6-3.

Stephan Leupertz and Paul Smith won the other matches for the Cowboys, while the Dons took both doubles matches.

Granada's win over the Falcons saw Murray Dean play an excellent match against Jim Dill in the top-seeded position. Dean rolled to a 6-1, 6-2 win.

CORVALLIS, Ore. — The Stanford Cardinals second-team quarterback Steve Dils has had fleeting moments with both fame and frustration in the four years that he has been with the squad.

He is followed such Stanford legends as Mike Cordova and Guy Jamin and if the Cards' lineup remains the same tomorrow, odds are that Dils will again watch from the sidelines when Stanford takes on Oregon State here.

Benjamin and if the Cards' lineup remains the same tomorrow, odds are that Dils will again watch from the sidelines when Stanford takes on Oregon State here.

That's not to say that the six-foot two-inch, 180-pound junior from Vancouver, Washington couldn't do the job if he was called on.

He proved himself capable of next year's starting position in a game, winning fourth-quarter against the University of Oregon last month, and an explosive match in which he started against UCLA, completing 24 of 37 for 287 yards, and a touchdown pass, for a 32-28 upset.

"At times I would get frustrated because I knew I could do the job. But I was playing behind someone really good, and I can't get too upset about that. I was frustrated before the Oregon game, because I wanted to play badly," Dils admitted.

But it looked more and more like he wasn't going to get a chance this season. "Now it doesn't bother me because I know how much I can do. I've pretty well convinced the coaches and other people so now all I have to do is wait for next season," Dils said confidently.

Confidence is name of the game for Dils. He said that no matter what, he always has a lot of confidence and belief in what he does, and not just in football either.

"My parents always talked about believing in yourself. It's just become natural for me. When it came around to the UCLA game, everyone was wondering how I would react. I looked at it as getting a chance. When I went into that game I wasn't nervous, and I think that rubbed off," he reflected.

"When you have a good player like Guy, people tend to depend on him to do it all. He can't. That's not the way football works. But when I came in for the UCLA game, they weren't looking for me to carry the team, and everyone stepped up a level," Dils said in explanation of his victory.

He related that the only way he would be nervous is if her weren't prepared. But when you have half the practice time, and no playing time, that's not a simple task as Dils agreed.

"It's not that easy because there's not the incentive to prepare. You figure your chances of playing are pretty slim," he said realistically. But the circumstance that would give Dils the field time that he needs is an unhappy one.

"If I get to play it's going to be if Guy gets hurt, and that's not a good situation. That was the biggest thing about playing I disliked," he said with a remembering frown.

After the Dils' debut, the possibility of his replacing Benjamin arose, but Dils is adamant in his clarification of the issue.

"The thought never entered my mind," he said firmly. "In my mind, Guy is the best college quarterback I've seen. He does so many things well. I've never really thought that I'm better than him or could do the job better. There isn't any jealousy or animosity. He's a very very good friend of mine and a super person," Dils said, forever dispelling all rumors.

As announced by Stanford head coach Bill Walsh, Benjamin will be the face across from the Beavers' defensive line tomorrow.

A new era for the TOC

On Sports

There will be a new look at the high school basketball Tournament of Champions next March in the Oakland Coliseum.

Besides the boys' teams, the top girls teams from all the major Northern California sections and possibly the Los Angeles City Section will be competing also.

The other major change in the format is that all first-round losers in both girls and boys' competition will be eliminated from further competition. Previously, the first-round losers would play the second night with the winners advancing to the consolation finals Saturday night.

Just how that will affect the tournament's attendance is something we'll have to wait and see about.

TOC attendance has been down the past two years since Bill Cartwright and his Elk Grove teammates won the championship in 1975. A TOC attendance record was set that season largely because of the presence of the present USF star.

But the addition of a girls' championship tournament could help the attendance.

At least North Coast Section Commissioner Paul Gaddini seems to think so.

"In the long run I think it will help out," he said. "I believe people will gradually become more attracted to girls' basketball as they get more familiar with it."

The possibility of the LA City champions competing in the tournament might also have a positive effect on the tourney's attendance figures, according to Gaddini.

"The prestige of the Los Angeles City champion competing in the tournament could draw more fans, particularly since it would make the TOC more of a state tournament," Gaddini went on. "But it could work the other way too. If you eliminate one of the at-large second place teams that's from the general area around the Coliseum like Berkeley or one of the Oakland schools it might hurt the attendance, too. However, if the at-large team is not from the immediate area then the Los Angeles champions would probably eventually become more of a draw."

With the first-round losers out there will be more winners' bracket games the second and third nights and that's bound to have a positive effect on attendance.

The addition of girls' basketball to the TOC brings on another question.

Just which area or league plays the best basketball?

In the boys' case, it's been fairly well established that the Oakland Athletic League plays the best round ball in Northern California and possibly the state. San Francisco old Alameda County Athletic League used to compare with the OAL in caliber but have gone down sharply in recent seasons.

Pittsburg won the NCS title last season, beating East Bay Athletic League champion Amador Valley in the finals.

But beyond the NCS little is known about the other sections.

We'll get a good idea just how girls' basketball fares in other areas come March.

While the caliber of play on the girls' teams may not compare with the boys, most of the games (at least in the EBAL) have always been close and exciting match-ups.

Some of the boys' match-ups in previous TOC's have been very one-sided. The Sac-Joquin Section representatives the past two years did not belong on the same court with any of the other TOC teams. Even the championship game last year between OAL winner Fremont and NCS champ St. Joseph was a mis-match, with the Oakland school winning easily.

Chances are that won't happen in the girls' competition.

And that in itself will make for a better tournament. Both for the fans and players.

ATLANTA (AP) — Dave Bristol has been fired as the Atlanta Braves manager, the team's board of directors announced Tuesday.

After the 21-19 loss to UCLA that probably was the most shocking to Mike White in his head coaching career, California stumbles into Saturday's game with Pac-8 title favorite Southern California with a 1-2 record and one last valiant hope for a championship year.

Saturday's game is expected to be a sellout, the first at Berkeley, excluding the Stanford games, in 24 years when in 1953 Cal and USC filled Memorial Stadium with 76,780.

A few weeks back many thought Saturday's contest would possibly decide the Pac-8 champion, but, with Cal 1-2, a little of the excitement has been steamed off.

Still, the fact that the game will be the first annual Joe Roth Memorial Game (a $1 surcharge on each ticket going to a scholarship fund in honor of the late California quarterback), and the fact that Cal still mathematically has a chance for the Pac-8 crown, and, also, is still in position for a bowl bid, with its overall 5-2 record, there are strong enough reasons for the fans to be excited.

The contest also is a pivotal one in the Pac-8 race, for with a Cal win, it is conceivable that from two to five teams could end up tied for first at the end of the year, all with two losses.

With the heartbreaking loss to UCLA, there is no question Cal enters the USC game with an onus on its back. White said this week, "I didn't ever expect to lose to UCLA. I couldn't say that down there (in L.A. after the game); I just told them they had a good club." USC coach John Robinson agreed with White saying that "Cal should have won." Robinson added, "Cal has been in every game and could be 7-0 right now."

Two big mistakes (a missed assignment that allowed a blocked punt that led directly to a TD and a poor hike that foiled a field goal attempt), along with other key failures, prevented White from posting his first win ever over UCLA in six meetings. In three of the last four losses Cal has suffered unusually bad luck.

Called the Bruins in total yardage (387-261), first downs (23-16), return yardage (126-62), and forced six punts, while only punting twice.

White said this week, "I was bitterly disappointed after the game, and I still am. Everyone connected with the Cal football program feels the same way." Even with the loss, White believes the team is progressing — "I feel this team, like the team two years ago (which tied for the Pac-8 title) is improving as the season goes along."

physical team we have faced this year."

USC (5-2 overall and 3-0 Pac-8) leads the conference in team offense (457.5 avg.), rushing offense (258.6), scoring offense (29.7 point avg.), and rushing defense (147.4). The mighty Trojans, seeking their ninth Rose Bowl in 12 years, own a ten-game Pac-8 win streak as Robinson has yet to lose in league play.

Cal under White is 1-1-1 against SC the last three years, and, if the ball doesn't bounce the way it did at the Coliseum last Saturday, the Bears should give the Trojans a game of it again this year.

Cal presently has the best overall conference statistics of any of White's previous five teams at Berkeley. The Golden Bears lead the Pac-8 in total defense (258.4 avg.), first in passing defense (110.3), second in rushing defense (148.1), second in scoring defense (15.7 pts.). Cal is third in the Pac-8 in total offense (419.9 avg.), second in passing (269.0), second in scoring (28.7), and fifth in rushing offense (150.9).

White calls the SC offense "the most diversified I've seen them ever have."

The Trojans' ground attack, averaging 5.0 yards a crack, is led by the Pac-8's leading rushing Charles White with 834 yards and a 4.9 average. He is backed by four runners whose lowest average is 5.5 yards! They are — Dwight Ford (341 yards, 7.0 avg.), Lynn Cain (256, 6.0), Mosi Tatupu (216, 5.5), Rod Connors (204, 6.8).

SC's pass attack, ranked fourth in the conference, is headed by QB Rob Hertel (1,211 yards, 53.8 pct.) and receivers Randy Simmrin and Calvin Sweeney.

Simmrin has caught a pass in 31 consecutive games and needs just 13 passes to break the all-time USC receiving mark held by Lynn Swann at 95.

The SC defense, third in the Pac-8 (267.7 avg.), first against the rush and third against the pass, has been bothered lately by injuries. Robinson said, "Seven of our 11 defensive players missed practice time before Notre Dame, and it affected us. We didn't tackle nearly as well as we should have." Also, two defensive starters missed part of the Irish game and starting cornerback Carter Hartwig did not play. All, however, are expected back for Cal, according to SC.

Robinson doesn't feel Saturday's game is a must win. He said, "We could lose to Cal and still be in good position in the Pac-8 race."

Here's how to cut insurance rates

EDITOR'S NOTE: Americans spend more than $41 billion a year on automobiles and other vehicles. They spend more than $5 billion on insurance. Many consumers are spending more than they have to. Here, in the second of a two-part series, is a look at how to cut costs.

By LOUISE COOK

Associated Press Writer
Careful shopping, selective buying and special discounts can cut auto insurance premiums sharply. The savings vary from driver to driver, but you may be able to trim your bill by one-third or even the savings vary from driver to driver, but you may be able to trim your bill more.

The Illinois Department of Insurance noted recently that there were more than 300 companies selling auto insurance in the state and said rates differed sharply "from company to company, driver to driver, car to car and protection to protection."

The department stressed that an expert insurance agent or broker is a necessity and urged consumers to watch out for:

— Agents or brokers who try to force you to buy another kind of policy such as life or homeowners when you buy auto insurance.

The purchase of auto insurance should not be contingent on any other transaction.

— Agents or brokers who sell insurance on a part-time basis only and may not be available to give you service when you need it.

— Agents or brokers who cannot explain the policy in simple terms so you can understand it.

— Agents or brokers who do not keep in touch with you about possible changes in your insurance.

The main difference between an agent and a broker is that an agent works for one or more insurance companies; a broker is an independent business person.

You may be able to check the financial stability of any insurance company you are considering by looking it up in Best's Insurance Reports, an annual publication of the A.M. Best Co., a private reporting and rating organization.

The ratings, ranging from excellent to fair, reflect the financial condition and operating performance of a company. The ratings do not include an evaluation of policy provisions. Nor do they cover claims practices. Best does not rate all insurers; do not reject a company just because it is not listed.

One of the most common ways for consumers to lower costs is by increasing the deductible on your policy. The deductible is that amount you have to pay before insurance coverage takes over.

Increasing your deductible from $50 to $100 can cut the collision portion of your premium package by 10 to 20 percent; going from a $50 to $200 deductible can cut the premium by 30 to 40 percent.

You may want to consider eliminating collision coverage completely on older cars which are already paid for. It does not make much sense to pay $100 a year in premiums on a car that is worth only $300.

Note: if you itemize your income tax deductions, you may be able to subtract losses exceeding $100. Suppose you are in a 32 percent tax bracket. If you have an auto accident and suffer $500 in damages to your car, you could subtract $400 as a casualty loss. Thirty-two percent of $400 is equal to $128 that you would save on your taxes.

State Farm Insurance Co., the nation's largest auto insurer, said studies showed its customers were shifting toward higher deductibles and, in some cases, eliminating collision coverage.

The company said that as of Dec. 15, 1975, just over 71 percent of State Farm policyholders carried collision coverage. Among new policies sold in June 1977, only 61.2 percent included collision coverage.

Of those who carried the collision coverage in 1975, the company said, 40.7 percent had $50 deductibles, 50.6 percent had $100 deductibles and 8.7 percent had other deductibles, mostly $200.

Of those purchasing collision coverage this June, only 24.8 percent chose $100 deductibles; and 14.6 percent selected other deductibles.

Other suggestions for savings on auto insurance include:

— Drive safely. Your premiums depend partly on your accident record. If you do have an accident, be sure to report it, both to the police and your broker. The reporting is important even if you are not at fault or are the victim of a hit-and-run accident.

— Try to pay your premium for the full policy period such as six months or a year. It costs extra to pay on the installment plan. If you don't pay on time, your policy will be cancelled. There is no grace period.

— Consider a group automobile insurance plan if

If you drive something a little more substantial

The biggest, boldest cab-over-engine linehaul diesel truck ever developed by Ford Motor Company will be introduced in Ford dealer showrooms in early October.

Under development for seven years, the top-of-the-line heavy truck, called CL-9000, has a standard gross combination weight rating of 80,000 pounds with special on-highway ratings as high as 138,000 pounds.

"The CL-9000 represents a massive design effort directed at driver environment, innovative and time-saving serviceability features, and profit-making payload and performance efficiencies," William P. Benton, Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager, said.

Standing 10 feet tall, the CL-9000 has a cab that was engineered with the driver in mind. Entry is achieved via four steps and two strategically placed grab handles that allow one to enter safely and easily.

Inside the spacious cab, the driver looks through a massive curved windshield, has a dual-pod instrument panel at his fingertips, and has the option of sitting on an air-suspended seat.

The climate control system consists of three separate units which dispense cool air or heat at desired levels for the driver, the passenger, and the sleeping compartment when it is occupied.

Tinted glass, an observation window in the lower front portion of the right door for good ride-side visibility, and crank-operated vent windows for added safety and comfort are standard equipment items. The cab glass area totals 2,762 square inches.

Safeguarding driver visibility is a unique double-arm windshield wiper system which retains 62 percent of windshield visibility in rain, snow or slushy conditions. A "wet-blade" washer system with nozzles located in the wiper arms provides an evenly distributed, full-spray pattern.

Other visibility features include an effective defrosting system as a part of the climate control system that clears a heavily frosted windshield quickly; standard seven-inch round headlamps, and door-activated dome and cab entry lights. Instruments and controls are illuminated with soft green, filtered, back lighting that distributes light evenly over all of the gauge faces and avoids reflected glare in the driving area of the windshield. Turn signals are mounted at the front corners approximately five feet from the ground, and are clearly visible to approaching and passing vehicles.

Additional features which enhance the driver's livability in his "home away from home" include a combination armrest and door pull positioned for optimum comfort. Because it is door-mounted, it does not interfere with entrance or exit.

Numerous seats are offered in a combination of matching colors and materials, but for ultimate comfort, air-suspended seats are available for both driver and rider.

Ample knee room and floor space allow occupants to shift around and avoid fatigue. The engine "doghouse" has been designed to permit easy movement around and across the cab. Its flat, low contour provides added workspace for a portable radio, map-spreading or lie-across room for comfortable cat-naps.

A center console has receptacles for ashtrays, thermos, cups and beverage cans. A push-button control empties the ashtrays into a container.

An optional fully integral power steering system has a responsive rotary hydraulic valve with a torsion bar for positive centering of the valve which results in stable, low effort steering.

The CL-Series offers five bumper-to-back of cab sizes — 54-and-64-inch non-sleepers, and 76-88 and 110-inch sleepers. The latter two include a useful footlocker.

Radio options are plentiful, ranging from a conventional AM radio to multiplex stereo with an eight-track tape deck. Dual-corner speakers are included with the radio options and two additional speakers are available with the larger sleepers. Additionally, an earphone jack in the sleeper is available for private listening.

Twin roof-mounted antennas are offered as an option for the planned optional factory CB radio or separately for customer-supplied CB.

An additional luxury option available later in the year is a moonroof for the cab.

The ultimate in driver comfort is provided to those who opt to buy the air-suspended cab. This design introduces a new kind of ride compared to previous cab mounting designs. The system uses self-leveling air springs in combination with shock absorbers and control arms to provide lateral, and fore and aft cab control, enabling the driver to figuratively "float in air."

Everything in the cab including gauges, lights, cab structure, the driver and rider, is pampered with this unique new ride system.

Powertrain combinations range from 270 through 600 horsepower diesel engines. Choices include Cummins, Detroit Diesel or Caterpillar Cooling is accomplished with the help of a 1,700 square inch radiator — largest standard radiator in the industry. A coolant recovery tank is standard equipment. Nine different transmissions are available.

Serviceability is quick and efficient. The top half of the grille is hinged and swings upward to shorten the time required for checking the coolant and engine supply. Right and left windshield wiper motors are located in separate pockets directly below the windshield, easy to reach from the front for servicing. A unique latch-lock system allows easy removal and replacement of wiper blades with one hand. The instrument panel features a front loading design for light bulbs and plug-in instruments and switches. Bus bars eliminate complex, tangled wiring assemblies. There is no need to go beneath the dash to service the controls and instruments of the CL-9000. Illumination and warning light bulbs may be easily and quickly replaced without removing the front cover of the instrument panel. To gain access to the engine compartment of the CL, the cab is tilted to a full 80 degrees with a hydraulic pump.

Numerous features add to the payload and performance capability of the CL-9000. The lightweight CL cab is constructed of an aluminum alloy for both extruded structural members and the aluminum skin.

Don Devendorf's champion stock racing sedan

Datsun on top at track

Don Devendorf is the 1977 IMSA (International Motor Sports Assn.) Executive Motor Home series champion for racing stock sedans, and Datsun has won the manufacturers championship against BMW, Toyota, Ford, Plymouth and AMC.

Although the results won't be official until the final race of the season in November, Devendorf's consistent high finishes in 13 of the 16 events have given him a substantial points lead.

He has won six times and finished second four times. The cancellation of one event late in the series makes it impossible for his nearest rival — Nick Craw in a BMW — to overtake him.

Devendorf drives a Datsun B-210, basically the same spirited economy car available at Concord Datsun.

Toyota stakes import claim

Chicago, Ill. — Quality of workmanship, fuel economy, styling and durability — not price alone — have made Toyota the most popular import in the United States, according to Norman D. Lean, vice president of general operations for Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc.

Lean was in Chicago for the national press introduction of Toyota's 1978 model line, highlighted by the fully redesigned Celica and the new luxury Cressida.

Lean noted that a recent survey of Toyota owners indicated that quality of workmanship, styling, durability and fuel economy were the deciding purchase factors for almost 50 percent of those surveyed.

"We think the consumer is still looking at the total value of the vehicle he's buying. We think we've got a big head start in that area and that our sales have proven it," said Lean.

"Total industry car sales for 1977 appear to be coming in at 11 million plus," said Lean, "and the consensus on next year's sales seems to be about the same."

Lean said that while the imports are accounting for nearly 20 percent of '77 U.S. sales, that share is abnormally high.

Lean forecasts that the import share will return to a more stable level in 1978.

"With more small cars entering the market, there's no getting around the fact that competition is going to have an effect on all of us," Lean said. "So we're looking at a leveling of sales for the coming year, probably again in the area of 500,000 units."

In 1971, Toyota's U.S. sales were 309,000. A sales figure of 500,000 in 1978 would be an average annual sales increase of about 8 percent, "which is in line with the stable growth pattern we've had in mind all along," said Lean.

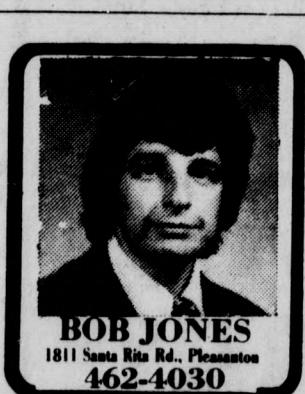

In tracing Toyota's history in the U.S., Lean noted that October 31 marks the 20th anniversary of the company's U.S. sales.

"That first full year in business we sold 288 vehicles. This year we're over the 500,000 mark. So, we've had 20 years of remarkable progress. Along the way, we have made substantial investments in the U.S. and we and our distributors and dealers are committed to continuing to serve car buyers' needs in the U.S. marketplace," said Lean.

Lean said that while there had been much speculation about the establishment of assembly plants in this country, no decision has been made by Toyota to build such a facility in the United States.

"Our studies are continuing. As to when and where that might happen, there have been no decisions made at this point," he said.

One of Toyota's subsidiaries, Long Beach Fabricators in California, is currently the only automotive import manufacturing facility in operation in the United States. The plant can produce up to 10,000 truck beds a month for installation on Toyota pickup truck chassis imported from Japan.

Sapparo joining Plymouth compacts

Expansion

Dublin Chrysler Dodge has expanded its operation after just one year in business. General manager Dave Davis can show off a used car emporium and the new truck and van departments. The dealership is at the corner of Dublin Boulevard and Hopyard Road in Dublin.

Detroit — An all-new sporty two-door subcompact called Sapparo will be introduced into the Plymouth line for 1978, bringing a new level of sophistication to Plymouth's small car offerings with its outstanding style, four-cylinder engine, appointments, comfort and luxury.

The four-passenger Sapparo, named after the Japanese city in which the 1976 Winter Olympic games were held, and Plymouth Arrow models will be equipped with new engines featuring an "MCA-Jet System."

This improvement results in higher fuel burning efficiencies, significantly improved fuel economy, and the potential for a substantially cleaner exhaust.

"With the new Sapparo and the subcompact Plymouth Arrow line, which was introduced during the 1976 model year, Chrysler-Plymouth dealers will have the widest range of small cars they have ever offered," said Richard D. McLaughlin, vice president of Chrysler's Automotive Sales Division.

"The Sapparo and Arrow provide our dealers with a variety of finely-designed and soundly-engineered cars to appeal to first-time buyers, young single people, new families, and families who need a second or third car."

Although both are small cars, Sapparo is larger, with more luxurious styling and appointments, and the Arrow features sporty styling in a hatchback body style.

Sapparo has a 99-inch wheelbase; is 183.1 inches long, 66.7 inches wide, and 51.8 inches high. Arrow's wheelbase is 92.1 inches. Arrow is 167.3 inches long, 63.4 inches wide, and 51 inches high.

To accent the Sapparo's crisp contemporary styling, it has a full complement of features as standard equipment including canopy vinyl roof, premium wheel covers, dual color-keyed racing mirrors, and white sidewall tires.

The cockpit-like arrangement of instruments and gauges is neatly clustered about the color-keyed, sport steering wheel, all readily visible and within easy reach of the driver. There is an overhead console with a digital clock. Other driver conveniences include a tachometer, oil and amperage gauges, trip odometer, dual outside remote power mirrors, a day/night rear-view mirror, and an inside deck lid release. The tilt steering column is standard, as is the electric reclining front bucket seats with adjustable lumbar support.

The revolutionary "Silent Shaft" engines with the new "MCA-Jet" feature are standard on the Sapparo and Arrow GT models, and available on the Arrow GS.

The "Silent Shaft" has two counter-balancing shafts, located at different heights on either side of the crankshaft, which rotate in opposite directions at twice the speed of the crankshaft.

Cougar should remain top seller for Mercury in 1978

For 1977, the Mercury Cougars will continue to offer buyers the variety and rich styling that have made them Lincoln-Mercury Division's best-selling cars during the 1977 model year.

"The Cougar name plate has accounted for one of every four Lincoln-Mercury sales during the 1977 model year — a record pace and one of the best performances by a single car line in division history," said Walter S. Walla, Ford Motor Company vice president and Lincoln-Mercury Division general manager.

"We anticipate that the new color and trim options and convenience features we have added to the Cougars for 1978 will further improve the broad appeal this sales performance reflects."

The 1978 Cougar line will consist of base two- and four-door pillared hardtops with the Brougham — a separate model in 1977 — available as an option. Cougar station wagons will no longer be offered because of the addition of the new Zephyr wagon to the Lincoln-Mercury lineup. The XR-7 will retain the stylized spare-tire decklid, special roof-rail treatment and wraparound taillamps that mark it as the top-of-the-line Cougar.

A new Midnight/Chamois Decor Group will be offered on the XR-7. Exterior features include a unique rear-half vinyl roof and a padded vinyl applique on the spare-tire decklid. The interior includes exclusive Derby blue cloth trim with chamois accents in a belt/buckle motif and a special sew style on the standard bucket seats. The group will be available in midnight blue with chamois accents or chamois with midnight blue accents.

Three new exterior colors and three new vinyl roof shades will be available on base and Brougham option Cougars. The XR-7 will offer four new exterior colors and two additional vinyl-roof colors. One new interior color — russet — will be offered on all Cougars.

Other significant new options include a 40-channel Citizens Band (CB) radio. The new CB is available in combination with all audio entertainment systems offered on the Cougars. It features a remotely mounted chassis, a stainless steel whip multi-band antenna for combined AM/FM/CB functions, and a detachable microphone which contains all the CB controls. These features are designed to disguise the presence of the CB in the car. An optional power antenna is available only on the Cougar XR-7.

Functional improvements for 1978 include subtle aerodynamic refinements for improved fuel economy, new low-restriction fresh-air intakes, and reduced back-pressure exhaust systems on all engines. A new smaller, lightweight power-steering pump also has been incorporated into all Cougars as well as several other 1978 Lincoln-Mercury cars.

The standard engine on all 49-state Cougars is a 5.0-liter V-8. In California and high-altitude areas, a 5.8-liter V-8 engine is required. Also standard are automatic transmission, power front disc brakes, power steering and a Dura Spark solid-state ignition system.

Trimming insurance costs

your employer, union or professional organization offers such a program. The premiums may be less and your insurance won't be cancelled unless you don't pay the premium or the whole group's coverage is cancelled. Investigate insurance pay membership dues, you would not ordinarily join, you will have to add the dues to your premium cost.

— Avoid buying an expensive or high-performance car. It will be expensive to repair or replace and is tempting to thieves. Premiums generally are higher on more expensive cars. One insurance company said, for example, that a policyholder in a midwestern city could save more than $350 a year on a total insurance package by buying a $3,500 subcompact instead of a $7,500 larger model.

— Don't drive to work. And if you must drive, try to join a car pool. The fewer miles you drive, the lower the premium and many companies give special discounts for car pools.

— Ask if you qualify for any other special discounts. Among factors that may help you save are insuring more than one automobile with the same company, completion of an accredited driver-training course, passive restraint systems such as air bags and no accidents or traffic violations for the past three years. Students with a grade average of B or better also may get a reduced rate as may nonsmokers and nondrinkers.

On the negative side, factors that could result in your paying higher rates include a frequent change of address, residence in a low-income or deteriorating neighborhood and divorce.

Rates also are often higher for drivers over 65, those who have been licensed less than three years and unmarried male drivers less than 30 years old.

The savings can add up. State Farm calculated what the rates would be for an adult married couple — over 25 — with a 1975 Chevrolet Impala on which they carry a given package of insurance.

For the purposes of the example, the couple was assumed to have a comprehensive policy with bodily injury coverage of $50,000 per person and $100,000 per accident and property damage liability of $10,000; a policy for personal injury protection or medical payments coverage; a policy for uninsured motorist coverage; and a collision policy with varying deductibles.

If the couple lives in suburban Atlanta and either husband or wife drives 100 miles or more to and from work every week, the six-month premium for the package, assuming no deductible on the comprehensive and a $50 deductible on the collision policy, would be $125.63. Raising the collision deductible to $100, would cut the premium to $120.50. Raising the collision deductible to $200 and adding a $50 deductible on the comprehensive policy, would cut the bill still further to $107. If the primary driver then joined a carpool and drove less than 30 miles to and from work each week, the premiums would drop to $87.50. The overall saving would be 30 percent.

Young drivers — particularly boys — boost insurance bills sharply. If the Atlanta couple had an 18-year-old son who started driving the family car, their six-month insurance premiums would increase by more than $100.

Wednesday evening, a regular Planning Commission meeting in the Pleasanton Council Chambers, 30 West Angela Street, Pleasanton, California, as the time and place to consider the following matter: Application of Lee Slaughter for a General Plan amendment which would change the land use designation of a 3.8 acre parcel of land located along the west side of the S.P.R.R., beginning at the intersection of Santa Rita Road and the S.P.R.R. (near Sutter Gate Avenue), and extending about 1,500 ft. south from "Open Space-Public Health and Safety" to "General and Limited Industrial." On the basis of an Initial Study of the potential environmental impacts of the project, it has been determined that the proposed project would not have any potential significant adverse effects on the environment and that an environmental impact report need not be prepared. the new 510

is back

The 1978 510 is not simply a return engagement of an old favorite. It's an all-new generation of Datsun's practical family car series — a step up from the B-210, more luxurious than the old 710.

It shares the same fiery proven, dependable 2000cc O.H.C. engine as the 200-SX, and its trim weight-to-horsepower ratio promises typical Datsun gas savings.

The new rear suspension improves the ride, the longer seat track and efficient use of interior space add comfort, and there are half-a-dozen improvements in insulation and noise isolation to give quiet on-the-road performance.

New light-touch steering and a 20% increase in glass area provide easy handling and great visibility. There's great versatility, too, in the choice of a 2-door Sedan, 3-door Hatchback, 4-door Sedan, or 5-door Wagon.

Spooks, hobgoblins invade this week

If you're anywhere between the ages of 1 to 100, you're probably prepared for the number of scary, spooky, horrifying Halloween events which will take place in the Valley this weekend. For those who have a strong heart, the Livermore Jaycees have set up their annual Haunted House, a yearly fund-raiser that draws thousands to see the hair-raising antics of monsters, ghosts and other creatures.

The Haunted House will be open through Halloween night from 7 to 11 p.m., with a special Saturday daytime show from 1 to 4 p.m. It's located in the Arcade Shopping Center, corner of First and P Streets, Livermore. Wolfman, Dracula, and the Creature from the Black Lagoon will also be on hand to entertain the kiddies. Cost is $1.

Other special events are planned at the Haunted House. On Saturday, Oct. 29, there will be a costume contest — with prizes awarded for the best and most original outfit — at 1 p.m.

Also on Saturday, at 3 p.m. is a pumpkin carving contest for kids up to age 18, followed by a Halloween coloring contest at 4 p.m.

Another Haunted House is also set up for those who think one terrifying experience isn't enough. The March of Dimes-sponsored event is in the poultry building at the Alameda County Fairgrounds from 7 to 11 p.m. through Halloween night.

Friday and Saturday from 7 to 11 p.m., and Sunday and Monday from 7 to 10 p.m.

The Livermore Jaycee Wives are keeping busy at their Pumpkin Patch, which will continue at the Buenas Vidas Youth Ranch on Arroyo Road in Livermore from noon to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

For a 75 cent admission fee, kids will get a pumpkin of their choice, an orange drink, Haunted House coloring book and a tour of the Ranch's petting zoo. All proceeds will be donated to the Ranch's Crisis Outreach Program building renovation.

In addition, the "Great Pumpkin" will be making personal appearances.

And the Campfire Girls are warning that "you'd better not shriek, you better not howl" when they start "Pumpkin Caroling" today. The group will visit the Pleasanton Guest Home to sing such old favorites as "I'm Dreaming of the Great Pumpkin" and "Deck the Patch."

Visits to other local convalescent homes and rest homes are also planned by the group.

"Make a Halloween

Face" will be the focus for a program at the Pleasanton Library on Black Avenue, where kids will be putting on makeup and getting scary faces for the big night. The 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. program will help kids get prepared for trick-or-treating.

If all that is not quite enough to satisfy your adventurous urges, check out the Halloween Carnival to be held at Murray School, 8435 Davona Drive, Dublin, Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. There'll be games and fun for all the kids.

'Woman of the Year' lunch slated at Pleasanton Hotel

Career counselor and instructor Elteen Kirschbaum will speak about "Discovering New Directions" at the Pleasanton Junior Women's Nov. 5 luncheon to honor the "Woman of the Year," to be held at 11:30 a.m. in the Pleasanton Hotel.

The annual event will feature Kirschbaum as the keynote speaker.

A Livermore adult education teacher, Kirschbaum has instructed classes which focus on women, their careers and their professional and emotional development. "College for the Mature Woman," "How to be Your Own Best Friend," and "Passages" are some of her offerings.

Kirschbaum, who is a board member with both the League of Women Voters and the American Association of University Women, received her M.S. in Educational Psychology from California State University, Hayward.

The luncheon, which will announce the "Woman of the Year," will be dedicated to the memory of Kitty Archibald, one of the area's first and best-known journalists.

Tickets are $6 per person.

For more information on the event, in which proceeds will go towards the Hotline community services project, call Deanna Scott at 462-4394.
